Where is it? Keep going North from the Urals, past Novaya Zemlya until you reach a group of 200 small islands. What is there? Mostly snow and ice. Birds in the nesting season, some very tough plants, walrus, polar bears, arctic foxes – and a detachment of 600 Russian soldiers who are the only permanent inhabitants. And, of course, VERY variable weather. Come and see what it can be like... the sheer logistics are interesting apart from history, the plentiful wildlife, and the very varied islands
